DAVIS THETRE.

Last Chance to See the Wonderful Production of East Lynne Today.

East Lynne that beautiful old story so dear to the hearts of millions at home and abroad, is the attraction that will be seen for the last time at this popular theatre today. Many have read the book and many have seen the staged production, but the photo play presentation is away ahead of all the other forms that have told this the other forms that have told this story. The scenery is perfect and gives a glimpse of that beautiful Severn River valley in Western England where Mrs. Henry Wood laid the scene for this immortal romance of love, hate and ambition. The part of Lady Isabel is portraved by Miss Blanche Forsythe a clever emotional actress who gives the part a human touch that soon makes her personality felt to the audiences. Mr. Fred Faul the celebrated English leading man, plays the part of Richard Caryle, and the supporting cast is all excellent. Today is the last chance to see this beautiful photo production of this story that appeals to old and young alike and brings back a fragrant memery of the past. The staging and ery of the past. The staging and costumes are of the early Victorian period and no detail has been omitted.

Besides this special feature there is the usual programme of Mutual Movies, including the famous Mutual Weekly and The Gambling Rube, a Keystone comedy that has no trouble making everyone laugh.

Messrs. Boyle and Craig have a con-cert programme of solos and duets that are making a big hit at every performance. For the last half of this week another class "A" Famous Play-the Indians start a rampage which results most disastrously for them, wiping out the entire tribe. In this engrinous two reel feature are to be seen Lillian Gish Robert Harroun, Kate Bruce, Charles Malles, Mae March and many other famous players of this big cast. The two comedies for today are "A Man in the House," and "The Tango Flat."

At the Auditorium.

"A Yard of Music" presented by Boutin and Hayes, the first half of this week is causing much favorable comment. The stage setting is very pretty and the music which comes from novel instruments is most har-monious. Ford and Le Ray a pretty sister team present a neat singing and plane specialty and Tom Devine, the "Hebrew Politician" has a single turn that is a positive scream.

In the picture bill today is a big three reel 101-Bison Mexican feature, entitled "On the Verge of War" with Herbert Rawlinson and Anna Little. Max Asher, the funny Dutch comedian will appear in "Schultz the Barber," a Joker comedy which is a scream from start to finish. An exceptionally good vaudeville show has been booked for the last three days of the week.

A Live Midsummer Issue. A glance at the new Evansville as shown in the Midsummer Number of The Evansville Courier is interesting. Evansville is not only growing materially with great new industries, banks, wholesale houses, hotels and apartment houses, but beautiful resi-dences, churches and clubs show that the city is biossoming in architectural eauty. Evansville is famous as a city of many diversions, and its mid-summer attractions are illustrated by many artistic drawings in this issue,

This mid-summer number reflects credit on The Courier, a newspaper that, as much as any other factor, is putting Evansville on the map.

POETRY

THE THRUSH BEFORE DAWS. A voice peals in this end of night
A phrase of notes resembling stars.
Single and spiritual notes of light
What call they at my window-bars?
The South, the past, the day to be,
An ancient infelicity.

Darkling, deliberate, what sings
This wonderful one, alone, at peace?
What wilder things than song, what things
Sweeter than youth, clearer than

Greece,
Dearer than Italy, untold
Delight, and freshen centuries old?

And first first-loves, a multitude,
The exaltation of their pain;
Ancestral childhood long renewed;
And midnights of invisible rain;
And gardens, gardens, night and day.
Gardens and childhood all the way.

What Middle Ages passionate.
O passionless voice! What distant hells
Lodged in the hills, what palace state
Illyrian! For it speaks, it tells,
Without desire, without dismay,
Some morrow and some yesterday.

Ali—natural things! But more whence came
This yet remoter mystery?
How do these starry notes proclaim
A graver still divinity?
This hope, this sanctity of feer?
O innocent throat! O human ear!
—Alice Meynell, in the Athenseum.

A SUMMER SHOWER.

Welcome, rain or tempest,
From you airy powers!
We have languished for them
Many sultry hours,
and earth is sick and wan, and pin
with all her flowers.

What have they been doing
In the burning June?
Riding with the genit?
Visiting the moon?
Or sleeping on the ice amid an Arctication.

Bring they with them jewels
From the sunset lands?
What are these they scatter
With such lavish hands?
There are no brighter gems in Golcosda's sands:

Pattering on the gravel.

Dropping from the eaves,
Glancing on the grass, and
Tinkling on the leaves,
That fish the liquid pearls as flung
from fairy sieves.

—Henry Timrod.

How to Rid the Skin of Objectionable Hairs

(Alds to Beauty)

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required: Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface, and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin, and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delatone. ELMER R. PIERSON
